If you paint, draw, dance, sing, tell stories, take pictures, sculpt, film, design or are interested in learning more about the creative use of technology, please come by. Bring some of the things you have made and the tools or instruments you use. Chris will be there with a scanner, camera, computer and animation software. Together, you will combine your creative skills to make a mix of art that uses different media and technology. The goal of this workshop is to introduce artists to some of the possibilities of digital arts and to start the first step in making some art that combines traditional and digital skills.

This is a two-day workshop. Choose one workshop, cost ₵300,000 Cedis.
